

Workplace Harassment and Sexual Harassment Prevention Policy

Effective: December 2025
Next Review: December 2026

PURPOSE:

To establish a framework for preventing/mitigating the occurrence of Workplace Harassment and Workplace Sexual Harassment.

This policy articulates the London Public Library's (Library) commitment to fostering a workplace that is safe and inclusive, where the diversity, dignity, and perspectives of all individuals are valued and respected. The Library will not tolerate or condone harassment, Workplace Discrimination or reprisals and will take active steps to promote a psychologically safe, inclusive and respectful workplace in accordance with the Ontario Human Rights Code and the Occupational Health and Safety Act (OHSA).

This Policy applies to all Library Employees, Board Members, Volunteers, any person having business with the Library, and members of the public. Contractors, visitors and other individuals conducting business on Library's property are also expected to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with this Policy.

Allegations of significant breaches of this Policy, including human rights violations by such individuals will be dealt with by the Library and, if substantiated, may be considered a breach of the individual's contract with the Library or affect the person's right to be present on Library property or participate in any of its activities. Patron conduct is covered in the Library's Charter of Library Use and Rules of Conduct policies.

DEFINITIONS:

Employee means a person who is employed by the Library and includes all Employees, including Page and Casual staff.

Volunteer means a person who voluntarily extends his or her services to actively support the Library, and who does so without remuneration.

While Library Board Members Volunteer their time and do not receive remuneration, for the purposes of this Policy they will be referred to as Board Members where they have roles and responsibilities that are different from those of other Volunteers.

Poisoned Work Environment: Unwelcome comments or conduct can poison someone's working environment, making it a hostile or uncomfortable place to work even if the person is not being directly targeted. This is known as a poisoned (toxic) working environment, and it is a form of Workplace Harassment.

Workplace means in or on the property of the Library or away from Library property if the Employee or Volunteer is engaged in work-related activities. This includes all facilities, worksites and vehicles.

Workplace Discrimination: Under the Ontario Human Rights Code, every person has a right to equal treatment with respect to employment without discrimination based on the protected grounds of discrimination: race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, sexual orientation, transgender identity and expression, age, record of offences, marital status, same-sex partnership status, family status or disability.

Workplace Harassment: Is a protected health and safety issue covered under the OHSA and is defined as engaging in a course of vexatious comment or conduct against a worker in a workplace, including virtually through the use of information and communications technology, that is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome. The OHSA also states that a reasonable action taken by an employer or supervisor relating to the management and direction of workers or the workplace is not Workplace Harassment.

Workplace Sexual Harassment: is defined as engaging in a course of vexatious comment or conduct against a worker in a workplace, including virtually through the use of information and communications technology, because of sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, where the course of comment or conduct is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome, or making a sexual solicitation or advance where the person making the solicitation or advance is in a position to confer, grant or deny a benefit or advancement to the worker and the person knows or ought reasonably to know that the solicitation or advance is unwelcome.

POLICY STATEMENT:

- Harassment by one Employee or Volunteer against another, which occurs outside the Workplace or hours of work but related to the work environment, may also be considered as Workplace Harassment.

Disrespectful behaviour can include the above examples of Workplace Discrimination, Workplace Harassment and sexual or gender-based harassment. The examples below may also constitute disrespectful behaviour, Workplace Harassment, or both depending on the context, circumstances, impact, and frequency.

This Policy does not restrict the authority of those charged with responsibilities such as counseling, performance appraisal, employee relations, scheduling, and the implementation of disciplinary actions.

What is NOT Workplace Harassment:

Legitimate, reasonable management actions that are part of the normal work function are not considered Workplace Harassment. This includes:

- enforcing workplace rules and policies
- measures to correct performance deficiencies, such as placing someone on a performance improvement plan
- changes to schedules and work location
- imposing discipline for workplace infractions
- requesting medical documents to support an absence from work
- organizational changes such as restructuring

Workplace Harassment also does not include occasional disagreements or personality conflicts, or stressful events that are part of the normal work duties.

A complaint filed under this Policy does not preclude an Employee from filing a complaint with the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario or pursuing other appropriate avenues under the grievance process or any other applicable policy.

If you don't feel safe speaking up in the moment, you can still take an active role in addressing the disrespect by bringing it to the attention of a supervisor, manager, or Human Resources, and by offering support to the target of the behaviour.

Malicious Complaints

If, as a result of an investigation, it is determined that an otherwise unfounded complaint of Workplace Harassment was intended to be malicious, it will be considered a form of Workplace Harassment and will be dealt with in accordance with this Policy.
